

THE WAR CRY

AND OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE SALVATION ARMY IN CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND.

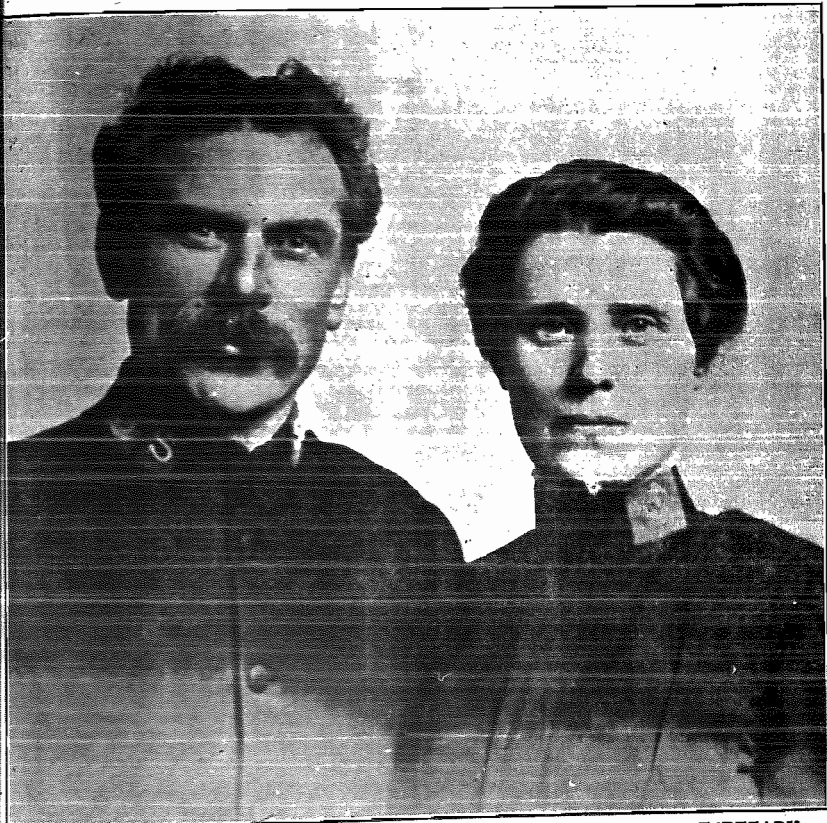

90th Year, No 14

WILLIAM BOOTH,
General

TORONTO JANUARY 13, 1912.

DAVID N. BILES
Correspondent

Price: Five cents.

BRIGADIER AND MRS BURDITT, THE NEW IMMIGRATION SECRETARY.

as charge
same next.
chancellor.
into Province continent, and as a Spiritual n Page (1.)

MAJOR AND MRS. McLEAN

(Continued from Last Week)

A Mansion of Mercy !
The Spa Road Elevator, L.

The Lugar Street Bandmen recently had a tea and meeting in their new Citadel. Although it was in the midst of the work settling in his new quarters, Lt. Colonel Chandler, the new band leader, took the chair, and by his wise and sound advice and

It gave him the greatest possible pleasure to have the honor of opening the institution. (Applause.)

The general, who was the next speaker, began his address by thanking, in the name of the Government, all the officers everywhere and the people, who were most seeking to uplift the distinguished visitors, and especially His Grace, for the friendly manner won the hearts of the Sanderson. Plans for the Sanderson's general and special adin thought, and counsel, and with remarkable wisdom. His speech of the General, he reminds you would have in their putting their money in the State. (Applause.) If he summed up his impressions left on his mind by the three I should say that the effects of the principles, (1) under which he was living in the man that which, his power as an individual, (2) he took advantage of the principle of discipline that might be in his mind, and (3) the sense of a narrow or broad view of religion in his broadest sense—so brought good in him might be general in his effort seemed to be in the advice of King Solomon, who said that the fear of discipline was the beginning of wisdom. (Applause.)

He was outlived during his meeting followed by a number of verbal and written reports.

On Christmas night we had an annual concert, it being a common every standpoint. The hall was packed to its full capacity, and an excellent program was rendered by the students. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion by the faculty and the students.

gave excellent attention. Twenty prisoners rose to their feet as a sign that they intended to start

While this meeting was being held,

ing sure to live for God.

Saviour in our meetings lately.—

Bright Newslets From Sydney.
On Christmas Day Sydney had

Saviour in our meetings lately.

At Soo, Ont.—A Brief Resume
The Christmas efforts at Saul

Saviour in our meetings lately.

ple turned away on the night of the Young People's Christmas demonstration, which was shown in that they would come in the future. Four souls have sought the Saviour in our meetings lately.

CANADA'S FISHING INDUSTRY.

AN INTERESTING AND PROFITABLE CALLING.

Drying Fish in Nova Scotia.

The territorial (belonging to the crown) of Canada constitute the most extensive and abundant only stocked commercial fishing waters in the world. They extend from the Bay of Fundy to the Strait of Belle Isle on the Atlantic coast, and from the Fraser River to Prince Rupert on the Pacific. In addition to these sea areas there are about 25,000 square miles of fresh-water in the interior.

The deep sea fisheries of the Atlantic coast who net cod, haddock, hake, pollock, and halibut, work in fleets of from 10 to 100 tons. These boats carry crews of between 12 and 20 men. Only one haul is carried home fresh, all the rest being split and salted at sea ready for drying.

The fishing grounds worked by these vessels are the numerous banks which lie from 15 to 80 miles off the Canadian coast, and the banks situated all over the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The in-shore fishery is carried on in smaller vessels with crews of from four to seven men, and also in boats manned by two or three men. Their catch of commercial food fishes includes cod, hake, haddock, pollock, halibut, herring, mackerel, alewives, smelt, flounders, swordfish, sardine, salmon, and lobsters and crabs. On the Pacific coast salmon is predominant, but halibut and herring are very abundant. Large steamers and smaller vessels carry on the work of the halibut fishery, while the salmon and herring industry is worked on the Pacific side produce whitefish, trout, pickerel, pike, sturgeon, fresh-water herring, and several less important fishes. Small boats and small boats are used on the lakes.

The fish and fish products taken by Canadian fishermen during the year 1900-10, according to the annual report of the Fisheries Branch, constitute a record in point of value being the highest yet reached during any one year in the history of the Canadian fisheries. The amount realized was $20,029,100, $4,778,081 ahead of the figures of 1909-10, and $10,007 better than those of 1905, which formerly held the record. This increase was obtained by a fishing fleet of 1733 vessels, steamers, and tug-boats, five of which were engaged in fur sealing, and 1730 boats, the latter being manned is shown, and the erratic movements of the mackerel are once more demonstrated by a large falling off in the total value. "This fishery," remarks Mr. Dore, "however, the Deputy Minister, 'seems to make little or no advance.' The value of halibut continues to advance, and the total value of oysters has risen above that of the previous year. 'In spite of the fact that the oyster industry,' says the Deputy Minister, 'seems to be a stagnant one. In looking back over the records of the last twenty years it will be found that, for instance, in 1891, the total output of oysters was 91,029 barrels, later it was 41,020 barrels, valued at $107,080, while in the year under review it was 38,533 barrels, valued at $251,504. This should be one of the booming branches of the fishing industry.'

Kinds of Fish.	Value.
Salmon.....	$4,251,524
Cod.....	2,125,800
Loose.....	3,637,150
Herring.....	2,734,751
Halibut.....	1,100,000
Whitefish.....	1,000,120
Mackerel.....	938,812
Smelt.....	808,812
Haddock.....	820,535
Pickered.....	985,403
Trout.....	121,123
Sardines.....	551,294
Hake.....	347,431
Pike.....	150,250
Chinns, quinnogs.....	311,078
Pollock.....	325,531
Oysters.....	274,981
Bel.....	100,415
Almon.....	100,080

Salmon Canning in British Columbia.

The industry of salmon fishing and canning, besides forming one of the principal sources of income in British Columbia, provides one of the most important occupations of the Dominion fishing industry. The chief market for canned salmon is Great Britain, but increasing quantities of the canned fish are being bought by Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa. In addition, the cannery itself calls for increased supplies of tinned fish, the salmon fishery returning $1,000,000 and upwards for the year 1900-10 are shown in the next table in their order of rank. It will be noted that the increase in the value of salmon makes up the bulk of the total increase of all kinds. The value of cod has also increased, but the increase in the price per cwt. A considerable drop in the value of lobsters

Provinces.	Value of fish.
British Columbia.....	$10,311,755.50
Nova Scotia.....	8,031,115.50
New Brunswick.....	4,070,315.50
Ontario.....	2,177,815.00
Quebec.....	1,608,130.00
Prince Edward.....	1,107,550.00
Manitoba.....	1,002,385.00
Saskatchewan.....	175,300.00
Alberta.....	82,422.50
Yukon Territory.....	115,623.93
Total.....	$20,029,100.00

A Moul of British Columbia Salmon.

Promoted to Glory.

BRO. MARKS OF REGINA.

On Dec. 10th we laid to rest the body of Bro. Marks, who came to town only a few days before his death. Our brother was the father of Mrs. Captain Covell and she, being a soldier here, desired her father to have an Army funeral. A number of the comrades spoke at this service. The Hall was well filled. Captain Miley was in charge. The Band headed the funeral procession, playing the "Dead an Army funeral." A number of soldiers and friends followed.

BRO. LEE OF RIVERDALE.

The above comrade was a faithful follower of Jesus Christ who was ever ready with a testimony of his Saviour. He loved the Army meetings, and attended and helped the Corps in every possible way for many years. His smile and greeting will never be forgotten by the soldiers of the Corps. The news of his death was announced to the Corps from the platform of Riverdale Hall, to which a message had been sent on Sunday night, Dec. 9th, that he was ill. He was to all present. We pray that God may comfort and sustain all the bereaved.

"CAPT." SINK OF RIVERDALE.

Brother Sink and his wife were familiar figures at the Army camps. Although not uniformed soldiers, they possessed the Army spirit and frequented the meetings which were held by the Corps. Although not uniformed soldiers, they possessed the Army spirit and frequented the meetings which were held by the Corps. Although not uniformed soldiers, they possessed the Army spirit and frequented the meetings which were held by the Corps.

Three UNSAVED MEN.

At Mercy-seat in Soldiers' Meeting.

Two souls came to the pentent-furn for salvation at the meeting on Sunday last. And during the soldiers' meeting on Tuesday three men, who had wandered into the Hall, knelt at the Great One's feet under the influence of liquor, but got through all right. The other two had never before sought salvation, but did so in earnest that night.

The Corps' Singing Brigade did splendidly at carolling during Christmas week. Over $100 was realized. Lieut. Laurie had charge of the Brigade.

A success-ful sale of work was held at Burin, Nfld., on November 30th. The sisters desired good credit for their two months work. One hundred and three dollars were realized—almost twenty over last year's effort. The money goes towards the new Hall fund—Adj. Bishop.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS LETTER.

THE GENERAL.

The General's week-end at Redminister, Bristol, which, as readers may remember, he came to only a few weeks ago—was closed by a very touching incident.

Monday morning found the General extra weary, and when at the station he faltered towards the train which was to carry him to the world's metropolis, he was seen to stoop rather more than usual. The railway porter who seized his baggage, handled it carefully, and placed it gently on the carriage rack, and when a kindly officer offered him the usual acknowledgment, he replied:

"No, sir, no; thank you, all the same, but I could not think of taking anything for carrying The General's luggage. I look upon it as the greatest honour of my life!" And as the porter turned to attend to his other duties, he was seen to wipe away a tear, which had come to his eyes, and he was heard to whisper, "I could not take a tip from a grand old man like that."

The General went his way, the porter went his, and the crowd dispersed. But that kind action of the humble railway servant remained, and I am glad to write (Colonel Lawley) the God who takes notice of a cup of cold water given in His name will not take note of the burden carried so willingly for His tired servant, our Leader.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Army's festive activities in London, Eng., included the providing of a special Christmas dinner for the 72,000 men in our various Social Institutions, the distribution among poor families of 15,000 "Daily Bread" puddings. The gifts of Christmas parcels in the hands of the right children. In this connection the services of many of the Women's Social Workers, especially the London Slum Officers, were requisitioned.

Over 650 comrades have already accepted invitations to the Chief of the Staff's Council for Bandmasters, Deputy Bandmasters, and Songster Leaders, to be held at Clapton on Sunday, Jan. 21st.

The Chief has a number of other engagements on the list for the New Year, including an All-Night of Prayer on January 21.

And this, of course, is in addition to the relief work we are doing all the year round, and more particularly during the winter.

The final returns for Candidates Sunday show that over 700 Young People volunteered for valuable service, which is a considerable advance on last year.

The only recent development in the Hastings Open-Air diaphragm is that once again Brigadier Miley's fine has been mysteriously paid. In the last instance the authorities it will be remembered, refused any information with regard to who had paid it, and so far as we can gather, they are now equally reluctant.

The suggestion made is that

Spa Road Elevator—Scene in the Kitchen of the New Wing.

the payment of the fine is "engineered" by the town authorities themselves because they are afraid of the result of going to extremes with the Brigadier, and if this is true, it is but another indication of the unjust and unprincipled foundation upon which the penalization is based.

Three comrades are still awaiting arrest and conveyance to Lewes Jail to serve sentences of fourteen days apiece for giving Gospel addresses on the beach. They are Ensign Waters (Burgess Hill), Lieutenant Stevens (Deal), and Mrs. Sally.

The week-end's fighting was commenced by Captain Mary Booth and Lieutenant Whitaker bombarding the saloons with Army papers. At one saloon the barman told the Captain that he did not like hearing the men swear, and sought her help to how he could prevent it. Officers are being vigorously conducted.

PERSONALITIES.

Over 650 comrades have already accepted invitations to the Chief of the Staff's Council for Bandmasters, Deputy Bandmasters, and Songster Leaders, to be held at Clapton on Sunday, Jan. 21st.

The Chief has a number of other engagements on the list for the New Year, including an All-Night of Prayer on January 21.

And this, of course, is in addition to the relief work we are doing all the year round, and more particularly during the winter.

The final returns for Candidates Sunday show that over 700 Young People volunteered for valuable service, which is a considerable advance on last year.

The only recent development in the Hastings Open-Air diaphragm is that once again Brigadier Miley's fine has been mysteriously paid. In the last instance the authorities it will be remembered, refused any information with regard to who had paid it, and so far as we can gather, they are now equally reluctant.

The suggestion made is that made for dinner, and the Commissioner was invited to share a dish he had never tasted before. He found it nice and tender and very palatable, but did not discover till afterwards that it was kid-food, he remarked, which Abraham gave to the angel!

The destination was reached by evening and a move instantly made for the open-air. The Captain met the party with an armful of brass instruments, hoping all the visiting Officers could play. A scratch Band was therefore formed, Staff-Captain Innie (who hails from Tayport, near Dundee) taking the leadership and Commissioner Hay the baritone. During this tour Commissioner Hay took a turn at the cornet, the drum, and the baritone, and thereby revived memories of the days when he was a Bandsman in Scotland.

INDIA.

In the early days of Salvation Army warfare in the Maratha country, in Western India, which was at first one of the hardest and most fruitless of fields, the first fortnight in one New Year week I saw a special prayer for definite advance.

Within a month after (says Commissioner Booth - Tucker) the villages surrounded the spot as this touching invitation: "We are sheep lost in the thorns; come and set us free." We went, many a new Goshawk Corps of uniformed Soldiers. One of the Soldiers of this Corps later brought all his relations, numbering some thirty persons, from a distant village to visit the Officer, and before leaving they begged the Soldier to visit them, and must not make any provision for her food while they were away, as they would feed her, and give her good milk as well.

The other village has been visited from time to time, but it had seemed that the good seed fell on unprofitable ground, until a cruel storm—as we considered it at the time—brought it to light. It was like this: The caste people suspected the villagers of doing them on injury and came at the dead hour of night, and set fire to their huts, leaving all without a shelter from cold in winter or heat in the summer. The poor villagers remembered in their distress the kind messenger of Salvation, so they sent an ambassador to "the Court of Queen Yuddha Bai" (Colonel Bamister, who was prominent in the last year) with an urgent appeal for help. Having ascertained the really distressing situation of the people, the authorities at once began rebuilding of the ruined homes, and we had the satisfaction of seeing the poor people with a roof over their heads before the rains came on, and now in that village every soul is either a convert or soldier.

FINLAND'S SELF-DENIAL VICTORY.

We are pleased to be able to record yet another of our comrades in Finland having realized the splendid total of 20,000 Finns (a mark is about 200 in value).

Best for the Weary! One of the Dormitories of the New Section.

(Continued from Page 12.)
and wharves operated on the coast, and 8,000 persons are employed in the canneries alone. The main operations are on the Fraser and Skeena Rivers, Rivers Inlet and Naas River, each, excepting the last, separated from the others by from two hundred and fifty to three hundred miles. At Lows Inlet, Namu, Alert Bay, and at Clayquot, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, canneries have long been in operation, but the principal centre is the Fraser River.

The different kinds of salmon packed include sockeyes, red springs, white springs, chums, pinks, cohoes, and steelheads. On being received the fish are at once put into the process of canning. They are first cleaned, chiefly by Indian women and Chinese, who open and wash them in a bath of fresh water. They are then passed on to another bath of flowing fresh water, scrubbed with coarse brushes, and once again plunged into fresh flowing water, where they receive a third scouring. From this point all is done by machinery. The salmon are cut up into sizes to fit the various cans, pressed into the cans, and weighed. The lid is then put on, and the cans are passed through water to ascertain that there are no leakages. After the first cooking the cans are sealed, and the gases escape, resoldered again, tested for leaks, and finally cooked. It is a rare occasion that a fish is not in its tin, cooked, and ready for labelling, in ten hours from the time it was swimming in the sea. Scrupulous cleanliness is one of the most important points to be observed in a cannery. The blood and oil from a fish is cleared away by the waters of the river, which always run beneath that part of the factory where the cleaning process is performed. In addition, there is a regulation that no day's work is considered complete until the whole factory, from cleaning house to machine room, is thoroughly cleaned by the application of fresh water and soap. Floors and tables are perfectly clean.

The total salmon pack in the Fraser River district for the year 1910, according to the figures issued by the Cannery's Association for the Province of British Columbia, was 222,035 cases. This is naturally considerably below the seasonal average, but in the large fourth year runs, but is a fairly good average for the year. The total pack for the year for the Skeena River District was 222,035 cases; Rivers Inlet District, 123,308 cases; Naas River District, 30,720 cases; outlying districts, 137,000 cases.

During the 1900 season, the fourth year run, the pack in the various districts was: Fraser River, 107,520 cases; Skeena River, 140,720; Naas River, 40,990; Rivers Inlet, 10,124; outlying, 127,975. Total, 307,020.

SOUL REST.

(Continued from Page 7.)
from their enemies. Those who enter the rest of faith cease from their struggle with the flesh, or inbreath sin, or depravity, by whatever name it may be designated. All antagonisms to God are expelled from the soul and Christ reigns without a rival. Christ and sin can never exist in a state of partnership or co-existence. There is no war more distressing than civil war, and when a confederacy against Christ reigns in the heart, there is no possibility of rest. The strong man may be bound, but not being cast out, he makes desperate efforts to suppress the power of Christ in the soul. The strong man may be bound, but not being cast out, he makes desperate efforts to suppress the power of Christ in the soul. The strong man may be bound, but not being cast out, he makes desperate efforts to suppress the power of Christ in the soul.

The different kinds of salmon packed include sockeyes, red springs, white springs, chums, pinks, cohoes, and steelheads. On being received the fish are at once put into the process of canning. They are first cleaned, chiefly by Indian women and Chinese, who open and wash them in a bath of fresh water. They are then passed on to another bath of flowing fresh water, scrubbed with coarse brushes, and once again plunged into fresh flowing water, where they receive a third scouring. From this point all is done by machinery. The salmon are cut up into sizes to fit the various cans, pressed into the cans, and weighed. The lid is then put on, and the cans are passed through water to ascertain that there are no leakages. After the first cooking the cans are sealed, and the gases escape, resoldered again, tested for leaks, and finally cooked. It is a rare occasion that a fish is not in its tin, cooked, and ready for labelling, in ten hours from the time it was swimming in the sea. Scrupulous cleanliness is one of the most important points to be observed in a cannery. The blood and oil from a fish is cleared away by the waters of the river, which always run beneath that part of the factory where the cleaning process is performed. In addition, there is a regulation that no day's work is considered complete until the whole factory, from cleaning house to machine room, is thoroughly cleaned by the application of fresh water and soap. Floors and tables are perfectly clean.

The total salmon pack in the Fraser River district for the year 1910, according to the figures issued by the Cannery's Association for the Province of British Columbia, was 222,035 cases. This is naturally considerably below the seasonal average, but in the large fourth year runs, but is a fairly good average for the year. The total pack for the year for the Skeena River District was 222,035 cases; Rivers Inlet District, 123,308 cases; Naas River District, 30,720 cases; outlying districts, 137,000 cases.

REJOICING AT COMFORT COVE

On Sunday, Dec. 21, we welcomed to our Camp Ensign and Mrs. Butler. The meetings were well attended all day, and we each one felt the presence of God very near. Morning and afternoon we felt the droppings, but in the night we had the showers. Three souls knelt at the mercy-seats, and two found peace. Glory hallelujah! Everyone danced till they were almost exhausted. We ended with a hallelujah wind-up.—G. G. H. P. C.

Ensign Lucinda Blackmore, of Newfoundland, has been promoted to be the Commissioner to the rank of Adjutant. Congratulations!

(Continued from Page 5.)
chosen the easier route to get to Heaven.

Out of curiosity we asked Adjutant Allen, the commander of the local Corps to give us a brief outline of his work last Sunday. To those of us who find it a hardship to go to church once a Sunday, or once every other Sunday, or once a month, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous.

This is what occurred last Sunday. At seven o'clock in the morning the Officers and soldiers mustered for a prayer meeting at the Pinnacle Street Barracks. That of course means arising considerably before daylight, but that is a mere trifle. The next appointment was at 9:30 a.m., when the force marched up to the County Jail, and for an hour held service for the benefit of such prisoners as cared to attend. At 10:30 a.m. a half-hour service was held for an open-air meeting on the street. Then from eleven o'clock until half-past twelve they gathered at the barracks for what they termed a "Holiness Meeting." The party at this time adjourned for an hour for refreshments, and came back to the barracks at 1:30 p.m. At 2:30, when another half-hour open-air session was held. From three o'clock an indoor service was held in the barracks, and the Corps broke up into two detachments, one going to the House of Refuge to conduct a service for the inmates of that excellent institution, while the other detachment repaired to the Home for the Friendless to minister to the unfortunates who have found a haven there. After the conclusion of these services there was another adjournment for refreshments, but at 6:45 every faithful soldier was on the ground for the evening open-air meeting, and the usual route of march was gone over. At 7:30 they returned to the barracks and remained there till ten o'clock for the regular evening service.

We forgot to mention that sandwiched in between these services Sunday school was held at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. We asked Adjutant Allen if last Sunday's programme was the regular thing, and he smilingly told us it was. Some Sundays he said it might be a little more complete when sick people had to be visited, or members of the Home-and-Out club applied for relief and other special features thrown in for good measure.

For the most of us that Sunday bill-of-fare would be quite sufficient to last a whole week, but not so with The Salvation Army. They hold religious service every night through the week, with an occasional Band practice and other special features thrown in for good measure.

We are told that the services held at the Jail are most interesting. The Army is the only religious organization in the city that essays this work. The prisoners are not invited to attend, there is no compulsion. As a matter of fact, it is rarely that any of the prisoners attend. As Adjutant Allen said, it is the soldiers who talk to these men in simple language, and tell them again the story of the Cross, and how Divine Love is yearning for them. To turn again home, often forty tears will course down the hardened cheeks, and there will be requests for prayer and counsel. It is a matter of record that many men, who are now leading exemplary lives, a credit to their right-about-face, the words spoken in the prison by members of The Salvation Army.

MAJOR AND MRS. GREEN

Visit New Westminster on Christmas.

Major and Mrs. Green, the Divisional Commanders for the year, paid their first visit to New Westminster on Christmas. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous.

Sunday night will long be fresh in our minds. From very commencement God's love was felt. Major and Mrs. Green, the Divisional Commanders for the year, paid their first visit to New Westminster on Christmas. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous.

FOUR VETERANS TESTIFY

Brigadier Hawling Leads the Night Service at Holiness. The meetings, but at 6:45 every faithful soldier was on the ground for the evening open-air meeting, and the usual route of march was gone over. At 7:30 they returned to the barracks and remained there till ten o'clock for the regular evening service.

We forgot to mention that sandwiched in between these services Sunday school was held at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. We asked Adjutant Allen if last Sunday's programme was the regular thing, and he smilingly told us it was. Some Sundays he said it might be a little more complete when sick people had to be visited, or members of the Home-and-Out club applied for relief and other special features thrown in for good measure.

For the most of us that Sunday bill-of-fare would be quite sufficient to last a whole week, but not so with The Salvation Army. They hold religious service every night through the week, with an occasional Band practice and other special features thrown in for good measure.

TWO SOULS AT PALMERSTON

The last Sunday in the year was very stormy, and had a stiff battle but we won our guns and our faith. The two found peace. Glory hallelujah! Everyone danced till they were almost exhausted. We ended with a hallelujah wind-up.—G. G. H. P. C.

Ensign Lucinda Blackmore, of Newfoundland, has been promoted to be the Commissioner to the rank of Adjutant. Congratulations!

is a matter of record that many men, who are now leading exemplary lives, a credit to their right-about-face, the words spoken in the prison by members of The Salvation Army.

MAJOR AND MRS. GREEN

Visit New Westminster on Christmas.

Major and Mrs. Green, the Divisional Commanders for the year, paid their first visit to New Westminster on Christmas. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous.

Sunday night will long be fresh in our minds. From very commencement God's love was felt. Major and Mrs. Green, the Divisional Commanders for the year, paid their first visit to New Westminster on Christmas. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous.

FOUR VETERANS TESTIFY

Brigadier Hawling Leads the Night Service at Holiness. The meetings, but at 6:45 every faithful soldier was on the ground for the evening open-air meeting, and the usual route of march was gone over. At 7:30 they returned to the barracks and remained there till ten o'clock for the regular evening service.

We forgot to mention that sandwiched in between these services Sunday school was held at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. We asked Adjutant Allen if last Sunday's programme was the regular thing, and he smilingly told us it was. Some Sundays he said it might be a little more complete when sick people had to be visited, or members of the Home-and-Out club applied for relief and other special features thrown in for good measure.

For the most of us that Sunday bill-of-fare would be quite sufficient to last a whole week, but not so with The Salvation Army. They hold religious service every night through the week, with an occasional Band practice and other special features thrown in for good measure.

TWO SOULS AT PALMERSTON

The last Sunday in the year was very stormy, and had a stiff battle but we won our guns and our faith. The two found peace. Glory hallelujah! Everyone danced till they were almost exhausted. We ended with a hallelujah wind-up.—G. G. H. P. C.

Ensign Lucinda Blackmore, of Newfoundland, has been promoted to be the Commissioner to the rank of Adjutant. Congratulations!

is a matter of record that many men, who are now leading exemplary lives, a credit to their right-about-face, the words spoken in the prison by members of The Salvation Army.

MAJOR AND MRS. GREEN

Visit New Westminster on Christmas.

Major and Mrs. Green, the Divisional Commanders for the year, paid their first visit to New Westminster on Christmas. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous.

Sunday night will long be fresh in our minds. From very commencement God's love was felt. Major and Mrs. Green, the Divisional Commanders for the year, paid their first visit to New Westminster on Christmas. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous.

FOUR VETERANS TESTIFY

Brigadier Hawling Leads the Night Service at Holiness. The meetings, but at 6:45 every faithful soldier was on the ground for the evening open-air meeting, and the usual route of march was gone over. At 7:30 they returned to the barracks and remained there till ten o'clock for the regular evening service.

We forgot to mention that sandwiched in between these services Sunday school was held at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. We asked Adjutant Allen if last Sunday's programme was the regular thing, and he smilingly told us it was. Some Sundays he said it might be a little more complete when sick people had to be visited, or members of the Home-and-Out club applied for relief and other special features thrown in for good measure.

For the most of us that Sunday bill-of-fare would be quite sufficient to last a whole week, but not so with The Salvation Army. They hold religious service every night through the week, with an occasional Band practice and other special features thrown in for good measure.

TWO SOULS AT PALMERSTON

The last Sunday in the year was very stormy, and had a stiff battle but we won our guns and our faith. The two found peace. Glory hallelujah! Everyone danced till they were almost exhausted. We ended with a hallelujah wind-up.—G. G. H. P. C.

Ensign Lucinda Blackmore, of Newfoundland, has been promoted to be the Commissioner to the rank of Adjutant. Congratulations!

is a matter of record that many men, who are now leading exemplary lives, a credit to their right-about-face, the words spoken in the prison by members of The Salvation Army.

MAJOR AND MRS. GREEN

Visit New Westminster on Christmas.

Major and Mrs. Green, the Divisional Commanders for the year, paid their first visit to New Westminster on Christmas. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous.

Sunday night will long be fresh in our minds. From very commencement God's love was felt. Major and Mrs. Green, the Divisional Commanders for the year, paid their first visit to New Westminster on Christmas. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous. The Major spoke with power in the Holiness Meeting, the Adjutant's remarks will appear a little strenuous.

FOUR VETERANS TESTIFY

Brigadier Hawling Leads the Night Service at Holiness. The meetings, but at 6:45 every faithful soldier was on the ground for the evening open-air meeting, and the usual route of march was gone over. At 7:30 they returned to the barracks and remained there till ten o'clock for the regular evening service.

We forgot to mention that sandwiched in between these services Sunday school was held at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. We asked Adjutant Allen if last Sunday's programme was the regular thing, and he smilingly told us it was. Some Sundays he said it might be a little more complete when sick people had to be visited, or members of the Home-and-Out club applied for relief and other special features thrown in for good measure.

For the most of us that Sunday bill-of-fare would be quite sufficient to last a whole week, but not so with The Salvation Army. They hold religious service every night through the week, with an occasional Band practice and other special features thrown in for good measure.

TWO SOULS AT PALMERSTON

The last Sunday in the year was very stormy, and had a stiff battle but we won our guns and our faith. The two found peace. Glory hallelujah! Everyone danced till they were almost exhausted. We ended with a hallelujah wind-up.—G. G. H. P. C.

Ensign Lucinda Blackmore, of Newfoundland, has been promoted to be the Commissioner to the rank of Adjutant. Congratulations!

Scripture Texts and Mottoes.

WE have an Up-to-date Stock, with many unique designs and a large selection to choose from—second to none in Canada.

No. 200.—Size 12 by 9 1-4. On imitation velvet with embossed frame. Four floral sprays, and bold white letters. TEXTS: L. "My help cometh from the Lord." M. "I will not fail thee nor forsake thee." O. "The Lord bless thee and keep thee." O. "The Lord is thy Keeper." 25c each.

No. 201.—Size 12 by 9 1-2. On imitation velvet, with artistic floral sprays, and bold white letters. TEXTS: L. "Wait on thy God continually." M. "With the Lord helped us." M. "Teach me to do thy will." O. "Cast thy burden upon the Lord." 25c each.

No. 202.—Size 12 by 9 1-2. On art boards in various shades, with artistic floral sprays, and bold white letters. TEXTS: L. "Wait on thy God continually." M. "With the Lord helped us." M. "Teach me to do thy will." O. "Cast thy burden upon the Lord." 10c.

No. 203.—Scenic views, the earth. Size 8 1-4 by 5 1-2. Colored. Colored bevelled edges. A new series of Text Cards with floral and scenic views, in finest chrome lithography. TEXTS: 1. "The Lord is good to all." 2. "Hope thou in God." 3. "He careth for you." 4. "Christ is all and in all."

No. 417.—Size 12 1-2 by 9. Imitation velvet. Colored. A fine series of Scripture texts on imitation velvet board. White lettering, with floral and fruit designs, beautifully tinted, very desirable. 25c each. Agents wanted.

No. 322.—Rosebush, 10c each. Size 8 1-4 by 5 1-2. Colored. Colored bevelled edges. A new series of Chromo designs of roses with dark background. Very choice. Texts in silver. TEXTS: 1. "He that thirsteth let him come." 2. "He giveth life to the faint." 3. "Christ is all and in all." 4. "Keep by the power of God."

No. 207.—25c each. Size 13 by 9 1-2. On red and green enamelled boards, with landscape designs, and silver letters. TEXTS: L. "In all thy ways acknowledge Him." M. "God is our Refuge and Strength." N. "Keep by the Power of God, through faith." etc. O. "The Lord make His face to shine upon thee," etc. 40c each.

No. 128.—Size 18 3-4 by 12 1-2. On white enamelled board with choice initial floral designs. Silver letters. TEXTS: L. "In all thy ways acknowledge Him." M. "God is our Refuge and Strength, a very precious help." etc. N. "Keep by the Power of God, through faith." etc. O. "The Lord make His face to shine upon thee," etc. 40c each.

No. 231.—Size 15 by 10. On chromo board, bold silver letters, and effective rose designs. 25c. TEXTS: L. "God shall supply all your need." M. "As thy days so shall thy strength be." N. "My presence shall go with thee." O. "Christ shall give thee light."

Trade Secretary, 18 Albert St., TORONTO.

